Employers Play Important Role in Preventing UI Fraud

The Employment Development Department (EDD) is committed to maintaining the integrity of the Unemployment Insurance (UI) program, which includes ensuring that UI benefits are properly paid and employers' accounts are properly charged. The EDD's partnership with the employer community is essential to preventing improper benefit payments and thereby reducing UI costs.

Employers who receive the Benefit Audit Form (DE 1296B), Notice of Unemployment Insurance Claim Filed (DE 1101C/Z) or Notice of Wages Used for Unemployment Insurance Claim (DE 1545) will promptly need to complete and return the forms with accurate information so that the EDD can identify and prevent erroneous claims as quickly as possible. These notices are the primary method by which employers can provide eligibility information to better manage their reserve accounts and assist the EDD in making proper eligibility decisions.

In addition, employers are required by law to report new or rehired employees, who work in California, to the New Employee Registry (NER) within twenty (20) days of their hiring date by completing the Report of New Employee (s) (DE 34). Not only is this information used by the state and county agencies to assist in locating parents who are delinquent in their child support obligations, it helps the EDD detect fraud by identifying employees who may be inappropriately or fraudulently collecting UI benefits while continuing to work.

The EDD conducts a daily audit in which the NER data is compared with UI claims. This is not an audit of employer records, but a process designed to determine if an employee continued to file for UI benefits after returning to work.

This audit process is critical in helping to protect the employer's UI reserve account from being charged incorrectly and subsequently being subject to higher tax rates based on that incorrect information.

The EDD will issue an administrative decision to the employee if the employee has been overpaid UI benefits due to fraudulent or non-fraudulent misrepresentation, withholding of a material fact, erroneous statement, or through an EDD error.

The decision includes the audit results and establishes an overpayment. The overpayment liability includes the amount the individual was overpaid, and may include a 30 percent penalty, if the overpayment was fraudulent.

The EDD's Benefit Overpayment Collection Section (BOCS) collects on these overpayments through voluntary repayment agreements and through involuntary earnings withholding orders, as well as offsets from UI benefits, the Franchise Tax Board and the State Lottery. The amount collected is deposited back into the UI Fund which may be credited to the employer's UI reserve account.

Your timely and accurate responses on the forms help prevent UI fraud which, in turn, helps to prevent improper payment of benefits.
